

HUBUNGAN ANTARA PRAKTEK PERSONAL HYGIENE OLEH PERAWAT
TERHADAP KEPUASAN PASIEN DI RUANG RAWAT INAP HESTI B
DI RS SALAK KOTA BOGOR

Rachmadi Purwana

ABSTRAK

In indonesia based on research conducted by the ministry of health of the republic of indonesia in 27 hospital districts and cities in 2002, getting the nursing personal hygiene and patient satisfaction levels are far from what is expected by the patient. to determine the relationship between personal hygiene practices by nurses on patient satisfaction in the inpatient unit at the hospital hesti B barking. this kind of research is using descriptive analytic using cross sectional method. The required sample size was 119 respondents. How sampling with simple random sampling technique. Collection of data obtained through questionnaires. good personal hygiene practices there were 80 people (67.2%), whereas poor personal hygiene practices there are 39 persons (32.8%). While patient satisfaction satisfied 87 people (73.1%), and who has not satisfied that there were 32 people (26.9%). Value relationship significant get 0.027 P Value > 0.05. Ho is rejected, it means Ha accepted, of the value of the results shows the results of the study showed an association between personal hygiene the hospital hesti B barking bogor in 2015. the relationship between personal hygiene practices by nurses on patient satisfaction in the inpatient unit at the hospital hesti B barking bogor.